

PINOT NOIR 2017
SANTA LUCIA HIGHLANDS – MONTEREY COUNTY

The oldest Pinot Noir vines in Santa Lucia Highlands supply White Hart Pinot Noir. Grapes like this don't come along every day. Most of the Northwest facing McIntyre vineyard was planted almost five decades ago. And they are certified sustainably farmed. In California there has been such a rush to the Dijon clones that old clones like these are hard to find. They produce a wonderful blend of red fruit flavors (raspberry, dried strawberry) and black fruit flavors (black cherry) that is distinctive.

The Santa Lucia Highlands comprise the Eastern flank of the Santa Lucia Mountains that extend Westwards towards the Pacific ocean. The dominant feature are the alluvial terraces. These terraces are a major factor in differentiating the "Highlands" from the Salinas Valley.

- VINEYARDS: Santa Lucia Highlands. 400' elevation. Sustainably farmed, aged almost 50 years.
BLEND: 100% Pinot Noir
AROMAS: Red cherries, raspberries, nutmeg, lavender, FLAVORS: Dried cherries, raspberries and plum, clove, nutmeg. Satiny texture, lively finish.
HARVEST: September
ANALYSIS: Alcohol 14.5%; pH 3.42; Titratable Acids 6.3, Residual Sugar .3 g/100ml.

LITTLE WINERY. BIG HART.
whitehartwine.com

